GLIMPSE OF LIFE ON THE OCEAN WAVE

P. J. Foley Makes Breezy Notes of Homeward Voyage Across Atlantic

P. J. Foley, who recently returned from an extended trip through Ireland, and who gave the readers of this paper several interesting accounts of his impressions of that historic country, kept a diary of his experiences and impressions of life on shipboard while crossing the big pond on his homeward journey. As usual with him, Mr. Foley saw and noted some of the pleasanter sides of the life of the traveler in the modern floating palaces and has noted much of interest. Always willing to aid in the interest of his neighbors Mr. Foley has allowed a reporter to glance over his notes and from these our readers are given a few extracts.

After noting the incidents of embarking, the record indicates that its author left Queenstown at 1:30 and that five hours later the party had their last view of Old Ireland. In the departure and early hours of the voyage nothing unusual occured, the only noticable incident being the fact that a number of the Liverpool passengers showed unmistakable indications of sea sickness. What particularly attracted the attention of Mr. Foley was the evident lack ot appearances of lonesomness or indications of sorrow at leaving home on the part of the emigrant passengers, in fact to his surprise the feeling exhibited by these people seemed to be quite the reverse of regret. The time was passed with music and dancing and all around merriment until it seemed that those young people were glad to be going away from homes and friends, and yet it seemed to him that the greater number of these seemingly happy people came from good homes which they were probably leaving behind for ever.

On these liners Mr. Foley encountered one class of people which he believed it would be hard to match in any country. These are the waiters and stewards, whose acquaintance it seems to be anything but difficult to make. Always affable and courteous, they displayed an extreme fondness for the great American Dolalr.

As dinner time approached every person appeared to be prepraing for the occasion as it is generaly supposed that all passengers shall appear at the function in evening dress, and as it was Sunday to be ready to attend church services. This service opened with the singing of a hymn. Then a very venerable appearing old gentleman preached a long sermon, which he had apparently committed to memory, but one important fact he seend to have failed to make note of, and this was that God was as good at sea as on land. Once I came very near commiting myself, that was when an elderly lady sitting next to me remarked, "Oh, that old nam. what an appetite he has for preaching."

Didn't sleep very well last night, had for room mate a big hearted German. At intervals during the night I learned that he was at Metz in the year 1870, and he fought with as much vigor this very night as he did then.

This May morning is indeed welcone, the sea is once more calm aud the day so far has turned out to be bright and sunny. Nothing very noticable, except the number of vacant seats at the dinner table. Six o'clock in the evening, and I neardly forgot it is Labor Day. Well, what the crew lacked in the way of demonstration or rough house the elements made up. It strated to rain and the waves commenced to lash one after another against our ship and this kept up continously for three hours. And it did roar and howl around the vessel until it seemed as if those waves were vying with one another to see which could hit the hardest. But finally our good ship rode them all and left them to battle away and fight it out the best they knew how. If I could only describe a storm at sea. I would like to be able to do so but must leave it to some hand more wordy than mine. But it is getting to be bed time again and I will have to wait the coming of the morrow.

This is the 2d of May and bad weather greeting us. Raining very hard, but not the rough weather of last evening, and all of us hoping for some fine weather.

Third of May and very little improvement over the previous day; not anything like what we had hoped for. We witnessed a pretty spectacle in the afternoon. It was a school of fishes jumping the breakers one after another, and putting it very mildly, thè were some jumpers. They were much larger than a salmon. There is but little change in the sea sickness condition, it still keeps a firm grip on those young emigrants, something pittiful to behold.

Fourth of May and raining hard. For the first time sighted passers, two steamers and a tramp. All the stear-age passangers were vacinated. We had a lecture in the afternoon by a Negro preacher, his subject was "Our Lord Entering Jerusalem." At 8:45 there was a concert in aid of the Seamen's Charities. Programs sold at one shilling. As usual, most every body seems to like to see their names in print, and I belive some would willingly give two shillings if their names could appear twice in the program. Seasickness is a little easier for the end of the fourth day of May.

The 5th of May and we are passing the Banks of Newfoundland.. It was very foggy dnring the night—kept whistling at intervals of every three minutes—and it is not one of your tin whistles that is abboard one of these liners. Sighted at a distance some ice bergs, but was not close enough to see what they looked like. There is lots of red tape aboard these liners. Notices are posted every where—immigration laws, landing regulations and others too numerous to mention. In fact there are enough posted every day to sink a small ship. And signing, why, I only missed one day that I was not signing something. Afternoon—money exchange. The purser did the work, and he appeared to me like an English Jew. Your humble servant fell in at the rear. Handed him my little mite; he smiled; I said "a very prosperous afternoon. He replied, "very indeed; you are lucky to have so little, because I could not accommodate you otherwise." Thanks. My friend Behrens never wore a broader smlie after a good aftermoons work than this English Jew.

Sixth of May and all well; seasickness gone. Very fine weather. More notices posted already; one was services at 11 o'clock tomorrow, and all hands are expected to attend. Subject, "Moses of the Long Ago on Top of Mount Sinai." In the afternoon Old Glory was brought out to be hoisted to the to the top. But before it could be done something at the top had to be adjusted. It did not take Jack Tar long before he was at the top and had his legs knotted around an inch rope while he worked with his hands with lightning-like rapidity. And Old Glory commenced to unravel herself before Jack had quite made his descent, and Liberty herself began to be gently fanned by the breezes. She looked good to me. I was just thinking of Moses of the long ago and Jack Tar of the Atlantic. Well, I leave the readers themselves to think and draw their own conclusions. The afternoon was given over to games. The first on the program was a 100-yard egg race for married women and single ones also; rather exciting. The next was 100 yards and thread a needle, for both sexes. The best one of all came next—a pillow fight. Both men straddled on a round pole, with one hand behind his back and a pillow in the other, and then to hit at one another until one was knocked off. This was decidedly good. The last was a tug of war between 12 single men and 20 unmarried women, to pull for partners. I came very near getting into that stsuggle, but when they lined up I had no desire to be single again.

Sunday, the 7th, and fine weather. Services at the usual hour—"Moses on the top of Mount Siuaia." The whole thing was nothing more or less—he got the papers and letters and came down and mailed them to the whole world. Fire drill, and it reminded me of the time when I was a boy and going to school. The teacher told me to draw a circle and I did so. Now a circle is something that has no beginning nor any end. Half past 7 and heading into the river.

Morning of the 8th of May and every body preparing for the doctor. Drawing close to the Goddess of Liberty, and she looks the very emblem of greatness. The smile and the hand stretched forth for a happy welcome to one and all of us—my hat off to her. Landed first and second class passengers and got in line for the customs officers, and they were a grim, determined lot, not a smile to be had out of any one of them. They are all aged—probably that accounts for it. The man who upset my duds said, "I wish they were all like you, we could all go home to dinner." Good bye Atlantic.

APPEAL TO THE BOYS TO SPARE THE BIRDS.

It is natural to think of a fish and game deputy as a very robust man with big gun, who chases about the country to prevent people shooting quail or deer out of season or catching trout before the law says they shall. But the latest deputy appointed by the state fish and game commission does not answer to that description at all; she is a very modest young woman, Miss Gretchen L. Libby, formerly a teacher in the Riverside grammar school.

Miss Libby had been doing such good work along educational lines that the commission decided that the state could properly assume the responsibility of continuing it on a still broader scale, and her appointment followed. Instead of going about to arrest people who violate the laws for the protection of birds and animals, she will try to teach the rising generation by reasoning to conserve bird life.

With this object in view Miss Libby paid a visit to this city Monday and spoke to the classes in both the high and grammar schools In her talk to the boys and girls she showed the value of bird life by demonstrating its relation to agriculture by making known that the increase of injurious insects is proportionate to the decrease of insect eating birds. She also told them what birds are their friends and many reasons why they should be protected. The more we conserve bird life the better crops we shall have and the more fully will the resources of the state be conserved. Her talk, devoid of its sentimental features, was largely from the standpoint of dollars and cents and a campaign against the slingshot by which many of the most useful birds are slaughtered.

As the protection of the birds rests with the boys and girls as well as the adults. Miss Libby is confining her work largely to the schools and in this she hopes for the vigorous co-operation of the teachers and parents.

Her efforts willl also include lectures before farmers and teachers' institutes and clubs throughout the state. Miss Libby is bright, intelligent and a very convincing speaker, and her talk in this city will be productive of good results. Her headquarters in San Francisco is at the Merchants' Exchnge.

Professor McCrea and Miss Grace Steinberger were in Santa Clara on Saturday, where they represented Sequoia high school at a meeting of delegates of the Santa Clara Valley Debating League.

Soldier Dead Honored.

The Memorial Day exercises at the Alhambra last Tuesday was well attended. It wasi with difficulty that the large crowd was seated. The program was an excellent one. Promptly at 1:30 o'clock the children from the convent arrived and after them came the children from the different grades of the grammar school. Then followed the girls of the high school, the old veterans, and the Relief Corps. After completion of the program, a parade was formed and marched to union cemetery.

The oration of James A. Bacigalupi in part was as follows:

"We come here each year to we come, we are wont to consider remember our dead, those brave fellows, who fought and died for the preservation of the Union, and as the question: What is death?

"Are we to think that because these, our comrads, have gone first, we are never to know them again. Are we to believe that the bonds of friendship are forever sundered by death? Not so. We have too much faith in the immortality of the soul; we feel there is to be another roll call where friends will meet friends and each will respond eagerly to his name. To destroy our belief in the immortality of the soul would be the death of those things that make our nation what it is. This Civil War made possible our knowing hundreds of men as heroes who otherwise might have "bloomed unseen" and unknown. There was an urgent call and men rose to meet that call, the call of duty.

"And as we come here today we cannot do justice to those men who gave their lives for the welfare of these United States, but we can, as instructed by our hero President Lincoln, dedicate ourselves to the unfinished work for which they have fought, dedicate ourselves with increased devotion to the cause for which they gave their last full measure of devotion, and resolve that these shall not have died in vain, and that this nation, under God, shall have a higher, broader and nobler freedom, a government of the people, for the people and by the people. Never must we forget the great service they have rendred Old Glory."

San Mateo Boy Honored

Lawrence Flaherty, the police commissioner appointed by Mayor McCarthy of San Francisco last Wednesday, is a former San Mateo county boy, having been born in the City of San Mateo, 33 years ago His family still resides there. The new commissioner is a brother-in-law of Jesse Robb, the well-known Millbrae citizen.

The hideous yells and nerve rasping singing of wine soaked individuals at uncanny hours of the night are becoming unbearable and the peace loving people of the village are going to put a stop to this pastime. Last Saturday and Sunday nights citizens were aroused from their slumbers by unearthly noises of these wine-crazed people A repetition of this offence will lead to serious trouble and those committing it had better take warning.

The play is a splendid comedy, with a great deal of activity and considerable opportunity for character acting. The cast is composed of the following: Philip Boyson, Augustine McCullough; Miss Rebecca, Mrs. J. J. Downey; Mr. Brown, Leo Duff; Jenkins, a butler, Howard Crane; Miss Katherine Boyson, Miss Genevieve Hodgson; Miss Marion Ryan, Miss Cecelia Carleton;. Patty, a maid, Miss Edna Crane.

A fire alarm was turned in Wedday evening from the Samuel M. Shortridge residence. The blaze was not serious and the flames were put out before the fire boys arrival. A chimney took fire and the flames blazed over the roof, threatening the building with destruction. The affair has taught the fire company a good lesson for the hose was unreeled and in a disorderly condition, taking a lot of unnecessary time to straighten out the tangled mess. All of the apparatus should be in readiness and in place, always, in case of a conflagation.

A pathetic accident occured at the home of William Feeley last Sunday which caused the family much sorrow. Arthur, the four year old son and his brother Francis were cutting out the comic pictures of a discarded paper, when they began to scuffle for the scissors. The older boy threw the shears at Arthur. It struck him in the eye. It penetrated the left optic, cutting the pupil, causing almost instant loss of sight. The injured boy was taken to a specialist and on Wednesday the eye was removed. This had to be done to save the sight of the other optic.

The meeting held in Duff and Doyle hall last Monday evening to discuss ways and means for providing funds to pay for the present street lighting system was poorly attended, showing a lack of interest in town affairs by our citizens. Mr. John MacBain presided and W. J. Murray acted as secretary. A. G. Hahn, one of the members of the committee in charge of the lighting system, made an exhaustive statement showing the advantages of municipal ownership. He explained how the district could put down its own poles string its own wires, etc for about $4000 and to extend the system as was necessary. Companies having electric current to dispose of could be asked to bid and the district would receive the benefit of this competition and not be subjected to the monopoly of the United Gas and Electric Company which the district has to submit to at present. Several favored the proposition while some opposed it. It was finally decided to have the committee go over the territory and eliminate all the unnecessary lights and report to a meeting to be held in the near future. In the mean time the United Gas and Electric Company is to give an estimate for putting in and maintaining the lights decided on by the committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Walker have purchased the Moulton home at Menlo, which was planned and designated by Mrs. Moulton, and is one of the handsome country places on the peninsula. A meeting of the San Mateo County Development Association will be held in Duff and Doyle hall at 8 o'clock. this evening. Every citizen who has the interest of the county at heart should attend this meeting. Wherever the association met in the county the people have turned out in large numbers. In Interest of Cemetery Work.

To all who are interested in beautifying and keeping in proper repair Holy Cross Cemetery, Menlo Park:

A collection is now being taken up for the purpose mentioned by the Cemetery Association through the following committee: Jas. R. Doyle and Jas. T. O'Keefe, Menlo Park: Mrs. J McGlynn and Michael Rafferty, Mayfield; Mrs. D. J. Geary, Mrs. J. P. Coleman and E. F. Fitzpatrick, Redwood City; Eugene O'Neill, Belmont; Miss Katherine O'Leary and Miss Greer, Palo Alto; Wm. Byrne, Woodside.

The necessity of employing a caretaker to keep the cemetery in proper condition must be apparent to all who have not entirely forgotten their beloved dead.

It is remarkable that cemeteries when neglected are soon overgrown with weeds and become the hiding places of gophers, squirrels and other pests, thus making the last resting places of dead loathsome and hideous to look upon.

At present the fund for maintaining the cemetery is very scant, and as the income from sale of graves is far from sufficient to pay the salary of a sexton, it becomes necessary to appeal for subscriptions to all who yet retain some memory of their beloved dead whose remains are yet resting in Holy Cross Cemetery. W. LYONS, Pastor,

Church of the Nativity, Menlo Park.

PLANS ARE READY FOR CONTRACTORS

City Council Issued Call for Bids for Two Important Public Structures

NEW CITY HALL AND BRIDGE

New Contracts are to be Let for Street Sweeping and Improved Service Required.

Trustee Hynding was the only absentee from the adjourned meeting of the city council Monday evening, at which another forward step was made in the splendidpublic improvements which Redwood City will make before the advent of another winter, and which must result in material benefit to the city. These improvements will involve the expenditure of very considerable sums of money and for several months have occupied the chief attention of the trustees, who have carefully planned for substantial as well as attractive work, and when completed will result in placing Redwood City in the front rank of up to date towns of thepeninsula.

Before taking up the chief business of the evening, which was final action on the acceptance of the plans for the new city hall and the making of theawards to the successful competitors in the contest of architects, several matters of minor importance weredisposed of.

The application of the United Gas and Electric Company for a permit to open Birch street for the purpose of etending its gas mains to private consumers was granted.

The Gamewell Fire Company gave formal notice of the completion of the new electric fire alarm system. had been carefully inspected by the fire committee and found to be in satisfactory shape and in accordance with the contract. City Attorney Mansfield was instructed to prepare a formal resolution accepting the system which will be adopted at the next meeting.

George S. Evans Womans Relief Corps, through Mrs. Alice Mansfield, its secretary, presented a communication inviting the council and city officials to attend the Memorial Day exercises at the Alhambra and to lend its assistance. in the inculcation of patriot sentiments among the young people of the city. On motion of Trustee Beeger the invitation was accepted and the thanks of the council returned for the sentiment expressed.

The work of Contractor T. C. Rice in laying concrete curbs on James street and curbs and sidewalks on the southwest side of Elwood street was accepted, no protests being made, and a claim for $2187.30 for the work was allowed. Albert Pissis having made objection to a portion of the work on the northwest side of Elwood street, final action as to that portion was deferred until the next meeting and the superintendent of streets was directed to make an investigation and report.

Chairman Merrill reported that in committee of the whole careful estimates had been secured of the cost of the new city hall building under the plans and specifications submitted by architect E. P. Antonovich for which it appeared that the building could be constructed within $12000, the amount set as the limit in thecall for plans. Following thereport a resolution was presented and adopted making formal selection of the plans of Mr. Antonovich, with the modification of the floor plans of Architect Thos. M. Edwards and declaring the award of the premium of $300 to the two architects named. The same resolution named E. P. Antonovich as the supervising architect for the building at a compensation of 2 1-2 per cent of the contract price. Following the adoption of the resolutio City Clerk Plump was directed to advertise for bids for the construction of the building, the bids to be opened June 26th.

In a good humor to push the work ofbuilding, the council next inspected the plans of Engineer Bruno Heyman for the reinforced concrete bridge to be builtover the creek in Center street. These provide for a substantial and sightly structure and were approved. City Clerk Plump was also directed to advertise for bids for the building of thebridge, these also to be opened June 26th. It is the intention to have the work on both the bridge and city hall in progress at the same time in order that the expense of supervising the work may be lessened, one superintendent caring for both.

Clerk Plump was instructed to issue the annual call for bids for street sprinkling and sweeping. Separate bids for this work will be opened at the meeting of the council June 19th. With a view to avoiding as much as possible annoyances caused in the past method of street sweeping some change will be made in the requirements, especially in the hours during which the work shall be done. This will require commencing at a later hour when the streets are more apt to be free from vehicles.

Chief Winter of the fire department reported that in responding to the fire alarm Monday afternoon one of the small chemical extinguishers belonging to the department had been so injured as to make it useless. The chief was given authority to purchase a new extinguisher to replace the damaged one.

Trustee Brown urged that some action be taken to secure better protection to the public at the railway crossing at Beech street. He reported that at this crossing the view of the tracks is obscured by the thick growth oftrees and that as a consequence drivers of vehicles were exposed to great danger. Several citizens among the spectators endorsed Mr. Brown's report, citing recent instances where serious accidents had been narrowly averted. Trustee Brown suggested that an alarm bell would provide sufficient protection at this point and urged that the railway company be required to provide this safeguard for the public. After the matter had been carefully considered Chairmna Merrill was requested to urge the improvement upon the Southern Pacific officials.

DO YOU WEAR A BOOSTER BUTTON?

Badge of Honor Adopted by the Adherents of Movement for Progressive County

NEXT MEETING AT MENLO PARK

Enterprising Citizens of Belmont Get on the Band Wagon for the Big Procession

Have you got one? One of those little black and yellow booster buttons of the Development Association. There are just a thousand and a big effort is being made to dispose of the majority of them before thenext meeting, this Saturday night at Menlo Park. Enroll in the movement and help yourself and the country at large—you'll never regret it.

The fourth district meeting of the Association, which was held at Belmont last Saturday night, easily proved that boosters spring up like blades of grass after a rain. You all know Belmont and some of you have been inclined to sneer when the name of that pretty hamlet is mentioned, crediting its people in your own minds with about as much enterprise as vaudevillians give to the residents of Milpitas. But—forget it; for Belmont and San Carlos have shown that they are as much alive to their own interests and those of the county as any place within its borders.

As San Carlos' representative on the Board of Governors, Asa Hull opened the Belmont meeting with a short explanatory talk of the purposes of the Association and was followed by the president, Rev. W. A. Brewer, who outlined a few of the many avenues of work which call for the Association's efforts in improving conditions here. 'San Mateo county should have an exhibit in the rooms of the California Development Board in San Francisco. We must get cheaper transportation. Lectures should be given on the resources of the county and they should be backed up with attractive literature but back of it all, we want the support of everyone in the county in addition to yourmoney," said the chair man.

Belmont, already known as the home of a large preparatory school, may become the site of a famous university, the following resolution, which was introduced at the meeting by Captain H. N. Royden being received with tumultous applause:

Resolved, that the board of governors of the San Mateo County Development Association be, and hereby are, authorized and requested to present to Mrs. Edward H. Harriman the unsurpassed advantages of Belmont as a location for the new university that she is preparing to endow, and that the attorney of this association, George C. Ross, be directed to procure options from all land owners whose property may be included in the area deemed most suitable for this purpose by the board of governors.

A letter describing the proposed location is to follow.

San Mateo Development Association.

Rev. W. A. Brewer, president.

Fred A. Green, secretary.

"I am heartily in accord with the articles of the constitution of this body," said George W. Lovie. "Something must be done. It is now high time that the railroad should meet us half way. The fares are a drawback and incubus to the community. In interesting ourseves in the development of the county we ar aiding ourselves and I hope that all of you will become enthused with this idea and join themovement," he concluded. W. F. Chipman of San Carlos was asked to address the meeting by Chairman Brewer and in a witty speech stated that he approved of the Association's purposes and pleaded for the improvement of the roads of the county.

"A meeting of this kind is mainly educational in character," said C. M. Morse, "and I hope that the rising generation will be better boosters than we are." "Don't let us divide our strength by starting too many things at once. I believe that the Board of Governors has decided on transportation as our first fight and when that is finished we can take up others. We have waited for years for the Southern Pacific development in this county and we have waited long enough. What will we gain by all this effort? Population at least, and that always brings many facilities and advantages," he said, ending with the truism that "a united people is always a magnet for capital."

George C. Ross related what had been accomplished by the old promotion association of the county, which is now defunct, and stated that he thought they had a small balance remaining in the Redwood City Commercial Bank, the use of which he would try to secure for the present booster's organization. Among the other speakers were W. J. Martin and James T. O'Keefe, upon whose invitation it was decided to shold the next meeting at Menlo Park.

A pleasant feature of the evening was the interest displayed by a large number of ladies who were present and who promised to become as enthusiastic boosters as any of the sterner sex who are now enrolled on the Association's list Among them were Mrs. Timothy Guy Phelps, Mrs. Clara Mattoon, Mrs. W. H. Fuller, Mrs. R. J. Shields, Miss Ethel McLean, Mrs. S. J. Mann, Mrs. Mary Haley and Miss Bernice Harris.
